

Precautions against Imitation of Sanyo Electronic Products

Thank you very much for using Sanyo Electronic Devices.

We have recently detected some imitation products labeled Sanyo or attached counterfeit Sanyo labels on them, which are sold in many parts of the world.

These imitations have not been sold through the official channels: our sales branch, sales subsidiary and distributors. And we are concerned about their influence on your equipments for they do not meet our Sanyo Quality specifications.

We are now working on eradicating the imitation sales but it is quite difficult to find out all unofficial channels.

These imitations shows close similarity to our regular products and it is hard to recognize them by appearance. We, therefore, would like our customers to purchase Sanyo products through our official sales channels.

For checking our official sales channels or any questions, please contact our sales office or distributors.

You can also contact us from our Web site below:

Please note that we hold no responsibilities for any failure or damages caused by using imitation products.

We look forward to your continuous selection of Sanyo Electronic Devices.

Thank you and best regards,
